

Hike Across Antarctica

Get Outdoors! Get Active!

It's time to 'Hike Across Antarctica' and support 'The Last Great First' with the first full unsupported ski crossing trip!

Last Great First's coast to coast trek across Antarctica is 2,600 kilometres. We want to see how many times Scouts in Australia can cross the Antarctic in their own backyard.

We want Scouts to get outside and spend as much time as they can in the great outdoors, whilst getting involved in an incredible expedition.

There are many ways your Unit can reach the 2,600kms! Run, jog, skip and walking can all go towards your tally in 'hiking across Antarctica'.

The Unit to record the most kms will receive a penguin woggle for each participant and Gareth and Richard will attend a Unit night on Zoom for a one on one chat!

Remember to log your kms each day on the tracking poster and once the challenge has concluded on December 1, upload your total kms to our website.

What is the Last Great First?

The Last Great First is the World's first unsupported coast to coast ski crossing of Antarctica.

Explorers and Scout Ambassadors, Gareth and Richard will ski 2,600km unsupported for 110 days from coast to coast in Antarctica. They will pull their supplies as they go.

How far have we gone?

Download and print our tracker to record how many kilometres you have travelled. Once completed upload your distance to the website and we will calculate how far we have gone!

Make a donation

Scouts love helping other people achieve their goals. Why not challenge your Unit to raise money per kilometre and donate it to The Last Great First.

Get the woggle and scarf
